

FOUNDRY FAVORED AT NAVY YARD FOR PORTO RICANS

Labor Men Receive Hope From House Com- mittee.

Assured Matter Will Be Taken Up By Next Session.

Representatives of labor are making a strong fight for favorable consideration by the House Committee on Naval Affairs of the Cary bill, for the erection of an iron, steel, and brass foundry at the Washington navy yard, to cost $300,000.

Representations have been made to the committee that $50,000 a year could be saved to the Government by the proposed foundry. Members of the committee, who have been interviewed by the men interested in the proposed foundry, have given grounds for the hope that the foundry will be provided for next session, if such action is not taken at this time.

"If I find the facts to be as stated," said Representative Ellis of Oregon, "I will vote for the foundry."

Representative William W. Kichen of North Carolina said:

"I consider the foundry a necessity, and will use what influence I have to ward its establishment."

"I am heartily in favor of the proposed foundry," said Representative Mudd of Maryland. Mr. Mudd said he had supported the proposition at the last session of Congress, and if it could be added to the navy bill this year, he would vote for it.

Representative Gregg of Texas announced himself heartily in favor of the foundry, considering it in the line of an absolute necessity. Representative Wilson of Pennsylvania expressed himself along the same line.

"I have not changed my views regarding the need of a new foundry at the navy yard from those expressed by me in the House two years ago," said Representative Dawson of Iowa. "Admiral Mason, who was before the committee yesterday, has a special emphasis on the need of this improvement, calling attention to the fact that the present foundry is antiquated and inadequate, and a menace to health."

Speaking of the bill at a hearing recently before the committee, Admiral Mason, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, said of the present foundry:

"It is a menace to the health of the employees, and the officers present in the yard. The loss to the Government each year by not having better facilities in this regard would soon equal the amount required to properly provide for this portion of the gun factory, and its increased product would materially aid in the outfit of armaments from this factory, saving both time and expense."

ISLAND FAVORABLE FOR PORTO RICANS

Tulio Larrinaga Has Con- ference With the President.

You're not in the Union?
What's the use of thinking that you cut some ice when you don't?

What's the use of being a Porto Rican nowadays, anyhow?
If you have the answer to any one or all of these questions, kindly communicate with Tulio Larrinaga, the resident commissioner from the little island that the United States moved from under the Spanish flag to its present proud position under the Star-Spangled Banner.

Mr. Larrinaga's cup of woe, now brimming and bubbling to the edge, will be changed to a beverage worth drinking if you can help him out. The commissioner called at the White House today to see the President, and although the latter greeted him cordially and said some nice things about Porto Rico, Mr. Larrinaga was not consoled.

"We are hammering and kicking and protesting against the conditions that confront us, but it doesn't seem to be of much use," said Mr. Larrinaga. "Until we get into the Union we won't even amount to much. Some of the people down there are getting excited over politics. But what's the use of that? A few Republicans and a few Democrats, hardly a handful of each. They hold meetings and pass resolutions or elect delegates."

"But what good will it do them? I am a member of the Union party of Porto Rico. The Union party carries everything before it on the island. Of the thirty-five members in the legislature, we have all of them; the Republicans and Democrats got none. But still, what good does it do us if we can't get into the Union? Therefore I shall not take any part in the selection of delegates to the Republican and Democratic conventions."

"I consider the foundry a necessity, and will use what influence I have to ward its establishment."

"I am heartily in favor of the proposed foundry," said Representative Mudd of Maryland. Mr. Mudd said he had supported the proposition at the last session of Congress, and if it could be added to the navy bill this year, he would vote for it.

SAY VON HERMANN WAS IN THE RAIL

BOSTON, April 11.—Karl Von Hermann, who has been sued by his wife, a former artist's model, for divorce, with Julia Marlowe named as a correspondent, was in town last night, stopping at the New Marlborough Hotel, as Mr. Elliott.

He is said to have endeavored to sell to an out-of-town paper a refutation of the allegations concerning Miss Marlowe.

When Von Hermann gave out his surprising story in Boston a few days ago he was stopping at the Hotel Thorn-dike, and it is claimed left there without paying his account.

On the charge of beating his wife, a bill an effort will be made to arrest Von Hermann today, as soon as he can be located. If held on the hotel matter Miss Marlowe's suit in New York will have an opportunity to act on a criminal libel charge.

Judge Kimball, senior justice in the Police Court, was surprised today when he received official information from officials in the District building that $504 was available for jury trials in the Police Court.

The judge was likewise embarrassed when he had sent jurors from the Police Court to the District building to pay their fees, and informing them with which to pay them, and informing them to that effect.

The $504 available will conduct jury trials for twelve days in the Police Court. Assistant District Attorney Given will use the jury half the time in the trial of cases involving violations of the District code, while Assistant Corporation Counsel James L. Pugh will try a number of cases in the lower court before Judge Mulwain.

Miss Corrie Fcheffer, who sings Dutch songs and entertains with Dutch wit, will appear at the White House this evening, clad in native dress. Miss Fcheffer is a well-known entertainer, and made such a hit at the White House last year that she was invited to sing at the White House again.

Miss Fcheffer is the guest of Miss Alva Bentley, 1317 R Street, northwest, instructor of music in the public schools.

PRINCE HENRY AT BIRTH OF GERMAN CRUISER

KIEL, Germany, April 11.—In the presence of Prince Henry and many high officials of the admiralty, the armored cruiser Blucher was launched this morning.

The cruiser is a battleship in all but name. She is built entirely of steel, and has a displacement of 15,000 tons.

JAPANESE SHIP SAILS
WITHOUT CHINESE GOODS

HONGKONG, April 11.—The Japanese steamship America Maru left here for San Francisco today without a package of Chinese cargo aboard. This is a consequence of the Chinese boycott on Japanese goods. There were only twenty-two passengers aboard, compared with 720 passengers on the British steamship Empress, which cleared for Vancouver.

MRS. DUKE IS ARRESTED.

CHICAGO, April 11.—While in the postoffice mailing a letter, Mrs. Alice L. Duke, the divorced wife of the tobacco man, was arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with passing worthless checks at the Great Northern Hotel. She was taken to the Harrison street police station, where she was locked up. Mrs. Duke said that she had no recollection of offering any checks at the hotel.

MAN SHOT IN CAFE EXPECTED TO DIE

Bullets Fly During Riot Precipitated by Greeks.

CHICAGO, April 11.—One man was probably fatally wounded, three others, one of them a policeman, narrowly escaped death in a fusillade of bullets, and a score of restaurant patrons were panic-stricken in a riot that occurred at the cafe of Philip Maniatis & Brother, in Halsted street, at 2 o'clock this morning.

Persons in the restaurant doctored beneath tables and made frantic efforts to escape from the building when a fight between two factions of Greeks resulted in a revolver battle. Reserves from the Maxwell street police station quelled the disturbance and arrested three of the participants.

Peter De Pountes was severely wounded in the head and was taken to the hospital, as was also Victor Takis, who may die. Policeman Paul Riccio was cut and bruised.

CASE OF SMALLPOX AT POLICE STATION

As a result of Frank Baker's willingness to surrender to the police, the Second precinct station is under temporary quarantine this afternoon, and as Baker possesses a well-developed case of smallpox, the quarantine of the station may be made permanent tonight.

This morning it was discovered that there were five cases of small pox among negroes inhabiting the National state 44 N street northwest. While the health officer was rounding them up, Baker, who was one of the five got away. A few hours later he walked into the Second precinct station, saying he understood that he was wanted.

He was immediately yanked to the post office, but at the same time a quarantined he had to be placed about Sergeant Flathers and Policemen Chalmers, Bennett, Brown, and McQuade, who were in the station at the time. The Health Office is now investigating the entire matter.

Thomas S. Taylor, a clerk in the Post-office Department, since January 13, 1877, died at Washington Hospital this morning of Bright's disease following a long illness.

Mr. Taylor published newspapers at South Bend, Ind., before coming to Washington. He also served in the Union army in the civil war, and was a member of John A. Rawlins Post, G. A. R. He is survived by his wife and one daughter. He was also a brother-in-law of the late Frank H. Thomas, who was prominent in Masonic circles in Washington.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

KIRKVILLE, Mo., April 11.—The California Limited, No. 9, from Chicago to Los Angeles, on the Santa Fe railroad, jumped the track a mile west of La Plata, Mo., last night. Eight cars went into the ditch. While no one is reported to have been killed, it is said many persons were cut and bruised.

Only the fact that the train had stopped at La Plata, where it was due at 5 o'clock prevented a disastrous wreck.

The train had gotten under fair headway when the accident occurred. Passengers were thrown into a panic and the scream of the injured could be heard in the business district of La Plata. Hundreds hurried to the scene of the wreck.

The track was torn up for a hundred feet and traffic was delayed several hours.

House Debaters
Wax Eloquent
Over Navy Bill

Not for years has an appropriation bill been so vigorously debated in the House as was the naval appropriation bill today. Conservatives regarded advocates of a greater navy, as seeking to outdo the country from its pocket to the treacherous course of war.

Delivers in the Administration policy of a large increase in the navy declared Congress must this year be liberal to the navy, or the honor of the flag and country might be endangered.

Representative Griggs, a member of the Naval Committee, which cut the Administration's recommendation from four to two battleships, said he did not believe in building a greater navy to encourage a bullying spirit in this country. He declared that as soon as Roosevelt had settled on one policy for the navy, he unsettled Congress by settling on a new one.

WOMAN'S THROAT SLASHED
BY HER JEALOUS RIVAL

CHICAGO, April 11.—In a jealous rage prompted by a love affair, Louise Reide, seized Anna Freeman, thirty-three years old, and according to the police, slashed her across the throat with a razor, in the doorway of her home today.

The victim is so seriously injured it is believed she will die. She dragged herself half a block from the house, and then sank unconscious on the sidewalk where she was found by a pedestrian. A physician who was summoned sewed closed stitches in the wound in her throat.

The police arrested A. W. Woods and Miss Reide pending the result of the victim's injuries. Woods is a tailor and is said to have been paying attention to both women.

The Reide woman, the police say, does not deny that she attacked her rival.

SOOTY RAILWAY CUTS FOUR TRAINS

Decreased Passenger Busi- ness Cause of Re- duction.

As a result of decreased traffic the Southern railway has announced that beginning tomorrow it will discontinue four trains to and from the South.

The road announces that the changes in schedule are made to economize and owing to the lack of travel. Present schedules have been rearranged so the remaining trains may care for the traveling public with as much comfort and convenience as possible.

The discontinued trains are local trains No. 9 and 10 to and from Danville, Va., the former leaving Washington daily at 8:05 a. m., and the latter heretofore leaving Danville at 5:50 a. m. daily. Through trains, Nos. 33 and 34, to and from the South, have been left Washington daily at 9:30 p. m., running through to Augusta, Ga. No. 34 arrived here daily from the South at 7:30 a. m.

The curtailed tourist trade to Southern resorts and the rather early closing of the resorts, also exerted an influence in the determination to reduce the passenger trains. It is said that other roads may follow the suit of the Southern and take off one or more trains.

SHORT CHANGE ARTISTS VICTIMIZE DRUG CLERKS

"Short change artists" and "flim-flam men" were busy last night and early this morning.

Two well-dressed young men went into the store of the Christiana Drug Company, 538 Pennsylvania avenue northwest shortly after midnight and made a $25 cent purchase. One of the men presented a $20 bill in payment, and when the men got through objecting about their change, the clerk found that he was $10 short. The police have been furnished with a description of the two men.

W. H. Henderson, of 1432 New York avenue northwest, was approached on the street last night by a man, who endeavored to obtain $10. He told the old story about finding a pocketbook full of money and offered to split with Mr. Henderson for the sum of $10.

Half an hour later a young man told the same game on the corner of a restaurant in Fifteenth street.

COL. B. F. W. CARTER FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL

Col. B. F. W. Carter, sixty-one years of age, of Richmond, Va., was found dead in his room in the National Hotel last night.

The death was due to heart disease. Colonel Carter, who was a salesman for a Cincinnati varnish company, was well known in this city, where he had spent much time in recent years. He registered at the National Hotel last Saturday night, and several friends who met him in the corridor remarked that he was not looking well. He was last seen alive about the hotel last night.

When a bell boy opened his door to deliver a package about 11:30 o'clock this morning, it was found that he was dead. Representative John Lamb of Virginia was notified of the colonel's death, and came immediately to the hotel. Mr. Lamb will arrange to have the body taken to Richmond.

Colonel Carter was a veteran of the civil war, having served with the Richmond Howitzers. He was a native of Virginia. He is survived by one daughter, who lives in Richmond.

ARMY AND NAVY UNION PROTEST ON PROGRAM

Claiming that they have been ignored by the G. A. R. in the program of ex-ceremonies at Arlington Memorial Day, the following committee, representing Roosevelt, Porter, and Barry Garrisons of the Army and Navy Union, will be present and ask for recognition at the meeting in Grand Army Hall tonight:

Gen. A. S. Burt, Capt. George L. Snyder, Commander A. C. Bransford, Dr. T. L. Leach, William A. Hickey, Van A. Zahnd and C. W. Blush.

Members of the three garrisons assert that the action on the part of the Grand Army is the result of the break in the ranks of the Army and Navy Union following the appointment of R. C. Gallbraith as department commander. The committee fully expected that when the case has been stated, the committee in charge of the services will make arrangements to have the three garrisons participate in the exercises.

W. H. Henderson, of 1432 New York avenue northwest, was approached on the street last night by a man, who endeavored to obtain $10. He told the old story about finding a pocketbook full of money and offered to split with Mr. Henderson for the sum of $10.

MME. GOULD SAILS; ALSO PRINCE DE SAGAN; MARRIAGE NOT DENIED

made all arrangements for Mme. Gould's flight from the St. Regis. De Sagan made his own arrangements to leave the hotel.

The De Castellane children were at Edwin Gould's home in the early part of the day, and on returning to the St. Regis in the afternoon were immediately taken to Jersey. Tyler Morse and his brother had meanwhile secured quarters for Mme. Gould, known now as "Mrs. Chapman," by offering a large premium for accommodations on the Frederick der Grosse. It is said she was assigned to the captain's quarters.

Women Veiled for Exit.

When the party made its exit from the St. Regis the women were heavily veiled. The Morges boarded one automobile and Madame Gould and Dr. Sagan another. Then came the maids. The machine, at once whisked away to Hoboken.

Not until 11:30 o'clock did the party come up to the steamer pier. De Sagan and Mme. Gould were on board in quick time, and there they remained for some time in conference. The Morges returned to the St. Regis, arriving there at midnight with the New Jersey register of their automobile entering the New York number, showing that there had been a trip to New Jersey and that the trip had been further than the pier.

Prior to midnight, during Mme. Gould's busy day yesterday she consulted a lawyer. But just what the consultation foretells can only be conjectured. It is said that the young woman is framing up a legal battle with George Gould to make him turn over to her more than $100,000, the forfeit of it she is supposed to suffer if she becomes De Sagan's wife against the will of her brothers and sisters. In accordance with the terms of the father's will, should the courts hold $100,000 more than to George, Howard, Edwin, Helen, and Frank Gould.
